

SAVE THE DATE!

The 2nd Theodor Bilharz Conference will take place in Leiden, the Netherlands, from 9–11 June 2027.

The meeting will bring together the global schistosomiasis research community to share recent advances, discuss ongoing challenges, and shape future directions in schistosomiasis research.

Building on the inaugural conference held in Tübingen, Germany, in 2025, the 2027 meeting will also celebrate 50 years of innovative schistosomiasis research at the Leiden University Medical Center (LUMC).

More information on registration, abstract submission, and the scientific program will follow soon.

For inquiries, please contact the organizing committee:

Lisette van Lieshout and Pytsje Hoekstra

schisto2027@lumc.nl